Developing math skills... Games have been offered, some with rules and some with out. The children are exploring patterns, matching and counting; they're even creating some rules. We have also been counting our collections as they come in. I'm amazed at what good counters they are!

The children worked on name collages with glue. I was impressed by their steady hands tracing over the letters.

We have been dehydrating fruit to sell at Ms. Malika and Ms. Ashley's Farmer's Market! So far, we made one big batch of raisins and 2 batches of apples. And, of course we taste tested the product- yum!
